Aah! A bird is blown away and crashes on a deserted island. Will he figure out how to get off the island? And who – or what – is following him? Find out in this comical alphabet misadventure that has only one to three words per page.

Free teacher's guide, shadow puppet printables, and more activities to go along with this book are available on www.brigittebrulz.com.

Author Biography: Brigitte Brulz is a homeschooling mom, author, and journal creator. She has enjoyed exploring small islands on the Mississippi River with her family. Thankfully, she has never been stranded on one. More information about her and her writings can be found on her website.

Illustrator Biography: Alyssa Brulz is a 12-year-old homeschooled student who knows her alphabet in English and French. She used a computer program to create all of the illustrations. Aah! Blown Away, Crash! is her first published picture book.

"Very cleverly done and beautifully illustrated. Lots of fun in this gem of an alphabet book." - Emily-Jane Hills Orford for Readers' Favorite
